Permission Policy

Our web site and our publications and materials are copyrighted. Please read our Copyright Notice below for further information.

However, the Catholic Commission for Social Justice (CCSJ) encourages the use of its materials. We normally will give permission to reprint or use our materials when requested in writing. Please contact us stating:

– what you intend to use,

– how it will be used, and – when.

After receiving permission, we required that you acknowledge the CCSJ as the source of the material, and, if possible, note our web site address www.rcsocialjusticett.org

Please send us a copy of the material.

Please contact the Episcopal Delegate for Social Justice who manages permission requests for the CCSJ

The Episcopal Delegate

Justice Desk, The Chancery, Archbishop's House,

PO Box 1277, 27 Maraval Road

Port of Spain, Trinidad, West Indies

E-mail: socialjustice@rcpos.org

Copyright Notice

Published materials of the CCSJ and our web site materials – text, graphics, layout and presentation – are copyrighted by the CCSJ. All rights are reserved. Permission is granted to download and print materials from this web site for the purposes of viewing, reading and retaining the reference for personal use. Any other copying, distribution, retransmission, or modification of this information or materials on this site, without the permission of the CCSJ is strictly prohibited.

Privacy Policy

The CCSJ is committed to maintaining the privacy of those who visit our web site www.rcsocialjusticett.org.

We may collect information at various places on our website. We are the sole owner of this information and will not allow this information to be sold or rented by others in ways that are different from our own.

For internal purposes aggregate information about the use of our website will be collected. Domain names of users (not email addresses) may be used by us for purposes of improving our website.

Cookies

The CCSJ does not employ "cookies" to gain information about general visitors to our website. Cookies are small text files from a web site that are stored on your hard drive. These small text files, or cookies, make using a web site more convenient by saving your passwords and preferences for you. We may utilise session cookies. A session cookie is a temporary cookie that is sent to your browser when you log onto the site and is deleted from your browser once you exit your browser or after some period of inactivity in your browser. Information from cookies may be analysed and matched with the data provided by you.

Links

This website contains links to other sites. Please be aware that we cannot accept any responsibility for these other websites, and you are recommended to check the Privacy Policy of the website you link to before submitting any personal information.

Changes to our policy

The CCSJ reserves the right to change its policy at its sole discretion without any obligation, to modify or correct errors and omissions within the web site. We encourage viewers to review our policy periodically for updates.

The foregoing policies are effective as of June 2003. This statement and the policies outlined herein are not intended to and do not create any contractual or other legal rights in or on behalf of any party.

By using this site, you signify your assent to the CCSJ Privacy Statement. If you do not agree to this statement, please do not use our site. Your continued use of our site following the posting of changes to these terms will mean you accept those changes.

Computer Services

The CCSJ makes every effort to keep our computer services free of viruses and other computer contaminating properties. However, the CCSJ cannot assure or guarantee that any downloaded files are free of infection or viruses and we do not guarantee that our web site service is without defects. Viewing and using our site is an "as is, as available" basis.

Contact Us

You are welcome to contact us regarding any statements or practices on this site. Visit the Contact page.

* Information on this page subject to change at any time.